Human Development and Family Studies (HDFS) Degree Program

HDFS is a Bachelor's of Science degree program that provides students with a comprehensive, ecological systems-based program of study in human development, family development, and family resource management. The HDFS curriculum provides students with a multitude of experiences through coursework and off-campus activities to give them the knowledge and professional skills needed for careers in family/human services.

HDFS Notes:

- There are several options to fulfill the language requirement:
  - Complete a four-semester sequence (usually 101, 102, 201, and 202) in a single language.
  - Complete a three-semester sequence (usually 101, 102, and 201) in a single language and one approved culture course.
  - Complete a two-semester sequence (101 and 102) in a single language and two approved culture-related courses.
- All required to complete a one-semester, 180 hours (12 hours per week for 15 weeks) internship in their last semester or summer before graduation.
- Graduates are prepared for the following positions:
  - Family service agencies
  - Family life education programs
  - Parenting education programs
  - Children/youth programs
  - Gerontology programs
  - Child care/early childhood education centers
  - Consumer affairs/consumer relations
  - Other family/human service positions
- There are two student organizations that are available to HDFS students:
  - Friends of the Family – A student-led organization open to anyone who has an interest in families.
  - Phi Upsilon Omicron – A National Honor Society in Family and Consumer Sciences to which students who meet certain academic criteria may be invited.

MTCC strives to create accurate transfer guides for students; however, requirements may change without notice. Students are responsible for working with an advisor at both their community college and UHM to ensure that their academic plan will meet requirements and timelines.
